John Skelton Williams Tells How Trust Company Depositors Were Protected.

NATIONAL BANKS APPROVED

Letter Signed by Officials of Twelve Institutions Show Agreement to Plan.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, January 11.-For two hours this afternoon, John Skelton Williams, nominated to be Comptroller of the Currency and member of the Federal Reserve Board, explained the actions of the Treasury Department in saving the depositors of the United States Trust Company, of this city, from loss. from loss.

This appears to be the chief com-plaint against Williams and was nurtured at the time of this financial incident in Washington by the bankers affiliated with the National City Bank, of New York. The charge was made that Williams, in advancing $1,000,000 to save the situation, had acted with-

Capital Badly Impaired.

Mr. Williams explained that in the late spring the examination of the trust company showed that its capital was badly impaired. The concern was given six months in which to make the company shows the capital was badly impaired. The concern was given six months in which to make the company shows the capital was badly impaired. Exclusive Method Secret of Success

In every phase of human endeavor it is the results that spell success or failure.

It is the results which have been achieved by Charles Lincoln Smith in the correction of defects of the eye that have won for him the international rejutation which he now enjoys.

By means of a method which he discovered almost a quarter of a century ago, this remarkable refractionist has been able to bring relief to thousands, this method is his only. It is the product of years of study and research, and its secrets are locked in his brains alone.

Congress Learns Much of Resources of Territory During Day's Consideration.

A meeting of the bankers was called by the department in the office of the Comptroller, and financiers were urged to take steps to remedy what promised to be a bad situation.

Finally the Munsey Trust Company agreed to absorb the institution. Not being a national bank, the Treasury could not deal with it, but twelve national banks agreed to negotiate the deal through which the Treasury was to deposit $1,000,000. This was done as a matter of bookkeeping, but as a matter of fact the cash was hustled early in the morning to the troubled trust company, and the danger point passed.

These banks took over securities put up by the United States Trust and the Munsey Trust and secured the government for the money deposited. Mr. Williams has a letter, signed by the officials of these twelve banks, agree-drawn by executive order of President Roosevelt, entered into the Senate derast Service to Eastern Carolina Points

Overcoat.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Asheville, N. C., January 14.—In an altercation over the possession of anovercoat in the bisement of the Orango Stiect School, just after the school had been dismissed for the day, Herman Wilson, the small son of a street car motornan, is alleged to have stabled and seriously wounded Pern Chysada, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cassada, of Spruce Street. The injured boy received a wound about two inches long in the left side.

The Wilson boy has been taken into custody but his parents have been given the possession of him, with the understanding that he be brought to court when the injured child's condition is such as to allow him to appear.
